

How did they hear about us?

Pastor George was amazed to see this sign in Paleochora, Crete. Did they copy our Aroma motto from the internet or is it just coincidence?

An old rugged cross?

While on holiday in Crete, our Pastor and his wife visited the Theriso Gorge and were shown this unusual sight of two trees which have grown into each other, forming a cross.

Aroma's eighth 'birthday'

This is the eighth anniversary issue of Langford Link and 2008 was also the year in which we started the Aroma coffee mornings. The next issue had already gone to press when the April event came, so we had to hold the photos over till now. If you were there this will bring back memories and if you've never been maybe it will whet your appetite - pardon the pun! A special feature of this occasion was the presence of two young ladies from Churchill Academy, Elicia and Charlotte, who joined the team of helpers.

Thank you

We extend our thanks to those from Horsecastle Chapel in Yatton who sent us help while Pastor George and his wife Christine enjoyed a holiday. Preachers and supporters came along and we hope they enjoyed our fellowship as we did theirs. Others also came and encouraged those who were keeping things going over the fortnight.

Back to normal

The welcome installation of a new boiler has been completed and we were able to move back into the Chapel in May. It works well and it is quieter than the old one. We thank you for your patience.

(Youngsters' faces are obscured in this internet version for their protection.)

For your diary

June should be warmer, just like the welcome at the Chapel always is! In honour of Her Majesty's official birthday, we have a special service on Tuesday 14th at 7.30 p.m. We've chosen to leave it till the big events are done to avoid clashing with others and giving you a headache about where to go. This replaces our usual Bible Study. (Have you ever thought of coming to the Tuesday meetings? We are looking at the exciting book of Acts just now, with the chance to share and ask questions.) Apart from our usual services during the rest of the month, you are welcome as always to the Aroma coffee morning on the 25th, from 10.30 onwards.
